

I am very concerned about Sinclair Broadcasting plans to air an anti-Kerry documentary just a few weeks before an election. I would feel the same way if a different channel was planning to air Fahrenheit 911 (on a free broadcast channel). I would hope there must be some type of regulation to stop such a political move from a source most Americans should be able to feel is non-partisan.

I feel the FCC needs to stop this before the damage is done, not just fine the company after the fact.

Thank you
